BASED UPON THE BOOK "CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN" BY FRANK B. GILBRETH JR. AND ERNESTINE GILBRETH CAREY

 Presented by permission of Dramatic Publishing, Inc.

Suppose you're an attractive high school girl and you're not only a member of a large and unique family but your father is, in fact, one of the great pioneers of industrial efficiency. Then suppose he decides, for no apparent reason, to apply his unorthodox methods to you and to the rest of your big family. The results are terribly embarrassing, funny, and it must be admitted, extremely effective. To Anne, however, the chief effect seems to be that of making them seem ridiculous to everyone else at school, especially the boys! Dad pushes ahead with better organization for his large and delightful family. The children don't understand the new rules. Anne, the oldest, rebels. Both Dad and she are miserable at the lack of understanding between them. Then in a deft and moving scene, Dad becomes aware of how much Anne has grown up.

July 23, 24, 30 and 31st at 8pm at the

The Director

Judith Mazur is the director of "Cheaper By The Dozen" and as you read this, is hard at work rehearsing the cast. Judy is a graduate of the University of Akron where she majored in theater and education. She has taught in the upper elementary and junior high grades as well as directing the drama program for the Steubenville City Schools. For many years she taught youth theater classes and directed both youth and adult theater productions at the Paul Cassidy Theater. Also at Cassidy, she developed and directed the "Traveling Troopers," a group of children who performed at schools and other venues in the area. For several years Judy directed youth productions at Karamu House where she also taught youth and adult theater classes. Other local theaters Judy has taught and directed at include Huntington Playhouse, Clague Playhouse, Buckeye Community Theater, Strongsville Community Theater, Broadview Spotlights, and Amherst Sandstone Theater. Currently Judy directs the Youth Theater program for Huntington Playhouse. We are incredibly delighted and proud that Judy has agreed to direct this production.

Judith Mazur has assembled a terrific cast of familiar faces to the BACT stages as well as several newcomers. We welcome them all and wish the "break a leg!"
